

GIANTS WITHIN ONE GAME OF WORLD TITLE

WARD'S ERROR IN 7TH INNING DEFEATS MAYS

Giants Take Lead in World Series When They Win 2 to 1 Battle

DOUGLAS HURLS GOOD GAME

Poor Base Running Cuts Off Giant Runs—Long Hits are Features

By United Press Leased Wire
Polo Grounds, New York. — Big Frank Snyder joined the society of the distinguished this afternoon when he batted the New York Giants to a 2 to 1 victory over the Yankees in the seventh game of the world series.

In the seventh inning, 40,000 fans sitting under heavy clouds that threatened rain momentarily clamored for a run that would break the tie and give the game to the National league champions. Snyder responded by smashing a double to center which sent Rawlings over the plate with the run that gave the game and a four to three count in series. Phil Douglas, the long, loose mountaineer came in for an equal share of the glory by pitching a brilliant game that completely subdued the heavy hitting Yankees. He had trouble getting away, however, and in the second inning the Yankees got to him for their only run. Pipp doubled and McNally followed him with a single. The Yankees were then thru for the afternoon.

In the seventh inning the American league champs had a fine opportunity to score. With two down Frank Baker singled and went to third on another single by Schang. Carl Mays, usually a good hitter, failed in the pinch on a feeble infield out. The Giants scored their first run in the fourth inning when Young singled, stole second and scored on Irish Meusel's hit.

The eighth game of the series tomorrow is expected to find Art Nehf, the Giant southpaw, and Walter Hoyt, the Brooklyn kid, opposing each other on the mound.

First Inning
Yankees—Foster up. Fawcett flied to Young. Peck doubled off the left field wall. Meusel tried to make a one-hand leap catch but failed. Miller out. Frisch to Kelly. Peck reached third. R. Meusel out. Douglas to Kelly. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Douglas appeared to have very little stuff and lacked control. The Yankees hit his offerings freely. Giants—Burns flied to R. Meusel who made a nice running catch in deep right. Bancroft hit to center for a double. He made second by sliding for a close play. Frisch flied to Miller. Bancroft reaching third after the catch. Young out. Mays to Pipp. Mays made a barehanded stop of a liner right at his head. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Mays had even less than Douglas and only the fast fielding of his defense and himself prevented a Giant run.

Second Inning
Yankees—Pipp doubled to left. Ward sacrificed. Frisch to Kelly. McNally singled to right, scoring Pipp. Schang forced Mays. Bancroft to Rawlings. Mays lined to Rawlings who made a spectacular leaping catch. One run, two hits, no errors.

The Yanks got to Douglas in this inning and Slim Salce and Pat Shea began to war map in the bull pen.

Giants—Kelly fanned, swinging at a low ball. E. Meusel out. McNally to Pipp. Pipp made a fine catch of a very bad throw.

Rawlings out. McNally to Pipp. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Mays improved greatly in this inning and had the Giants swinging weakly at his low curves.

Third Inning
Yankees—Fawcett singled to left but was out stretching it. E. Meusel to Bancroft. Peck singled to left center on a pop fly. Miller popped to Bancroft on the first ball. Meusel fanned, swinging. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Douglas started off badly again but tightened up and Miller and Meusel were easy victims.

Youth Hated School; Dies By Hanging

By United Press Leased Wire
Milwaukee. — Thomas Ralyceczk didn't want to go to school. He had at several times professed a dislike for school and it is alleged had said he would do almost anything to end his school days.

Late Tuesday afternoon his body was found hanging from a rafter in the basement of his home. According to his playmates, Thomas had been reading of the deaths of two Chicago boys who recently were found from hanging, which is believed to have prompted the act.

The body was found by a little neighbor girl. The boy lived with his stepfather, who was unable to give any information explaining his death.

PARTIAL WAR HOLIDAY ONLY AIM OF PARLEY

Harding Says Ideal Set Too High Would Wreck Disarmament Conference

By Raymond Clapper
By United Press Leased Wire
Washington. — Universal disarmament is impossible and even its desirability now is questionable, President Harding said Wednesday.

The president's view, which makes it clear the American delegation at the arms parley will seek only a limitation of armament, was stated in emphatic terms in a letter made public by the White House to stem a growing propaganda—mostly well intentioned—for complete abolition of armament.

The letter made public simultaneously with the assembling of American delegation to the disarmament conference here Wednesday, was addressed to Miss Ella L. Freed, 46 Lenox rd., Brooklyn, N. Y., who had written the president urging him to work for complete disarmament.

Hundreds of letters have come to the White House urging Harding to insist that armies and navies, the world over be wiped out by the conference. This propaganda, Harding believes, is arousing false hopes which cannot possibly be realized, and which, if insisted upon might wreck the conference.

"President Harding's reply to a letter Miss Freed wrote October 5, declared for 'reasonable limitation.' She replied that this letter 'seemed to bring a message of hopelessness' to those seeking universal disarmament, and asked him to explain what he meant by 'reasonable limitation.'"

"By reasonable limitation," the president replied, "I mean something practicable that there is a chance to accomplish, rather than an ideal that there would be no chance to realize. It is necessary to deal with actualities; to do the best possible. Universal disarmament would be beyond hope of realization; even its desirability at this time might well be questioned. Thousands of years of history recording the wars and controversies of mankind, suggest that human nature would require revolutionary reorganization to make universal disarmament possible. A consideration of the present state of the world must, I think, enforce the conclusion that this is not a hopeful time to undertake that kind of revolution."

Youth Is Killed In Hunting Accident

George Piette Loses Life When He Pulls Loaded Gun Toward Him, Muzzle First—Lower Part of Abdomen Is Shot Away

George Piette, 24, 748 Main-st., married and with two children, was fatally shot while hunting near Winneconne Tuesday morning when he pulled a loaded gun toward him in his boat. The trigger caught in the boat seat and the full load of shot was discharged into the young man's abdomen. He died three hours later in St. Mary hospital in Oshkosh.

George and his two brothers, Edward of Appleton, and William of Menasha, went on the lake early Tuesday to go duck hunting. William and George were in one boat while Edward was alone in another. When they were about a half mile from shore, George reached for his gun, and started pulling it toward him, muzzle first. An instant later, the load of shot tore away the greater part of his abdomen.

The boys rowed to shore and secured the services of a physician from Oshkosh who hurried the injured man to the hospital. Edward drove home to advise his parents of the tragedy.

The young man is survived by his widow, two children, parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Piette of 748 Main-st., three brothers, Edward of Appleton, Joseph of Fond du Lac and William of Menasha; one sister, Mrs. Marie Young of Milwaukee.

Funeral services will be held Friday morning at Sacred Heart church. The definite hour has not been announced.

TO TRY ASHLEY FOR DOUBLE MURDER

Finger Prints Helped Make Sallowkeeper Admit Killing of Oshkosh Pair

By United Press Leased Wire
Milwaukee. — Following the confession Tuesday of John Ashley that he killed Ole Larson, Oshkosh, and his daughter, Helen, District Attorney Zabel here Wednesday morning issued two warrants charging first degree murder. Ashley will be arraigned in district court Wednesday.

Psychology methods and finger prints taken from the gun and compared with those of Ashley contributed to the confession. Following the confession, the police reopened an investigation into the death of Frank Gruber, roadhouse proprietor here seven years ago. Ashley was employed as bartender for Gruber.

Captain of Detectives Harry McCrory declared late Tuesday he thought Ashley had no connection with the Gruber case.

PARLEY SURE TO CONSIDER FORTS IN EAST

America May be Persuaded to Abandon Further Fortifying of Philippines

NAVAL BASE TOO EXPENSIVE

Japan is Eager to Have All Far Eastern Questions Solved at Conference

By David Lawrence
Copyright, 1921, by Post Pub. Co.
Washington. — Tokyo cablegrams saying Japan would like to bring up the status of the Philippines when the conference on Far Eastern questions is held here next month has brought out several informal expressions of opinion at this end which indicate that even that problem will not be insuperable.

The Japanese contention that American fortifications are regarded by Japan as purely offensive is not seriously regarded in Washington where a division of opinion has always prevailed as to the real value of fortifying the archipelago. One set of military men in our government thinks all money being spent on Philippine fortifications is wasted not only because the United States does not intend to become a military nation and of course will never keep an army overseas big enough to justify the maintenance of fortifications but because the Philippines are accessible to an attacking army from too many places.

This school of army thought believes that any fortifications which are ineffective had better be given up and that reciprocally Japan might be induced to stop fortifying some of the Pacific islands under her control.

Fortifications helpful. — Those American military and naval men who favor large fortifications in the Philippines argue that even admitting that the Philippines cannot be defended from an expeditionary attack of considerable size, it would be helpful to the United States to be able to hold the Philippines in an emergency until the navy could bring reinforcements. It is further contended that Manila could be used effectively as a naval base.

Here again the question of how large a fleet the United States will have to maintain, or rather how many naval bases it will need in the Pacific, comes into discussion. With the American navy divided between the Atlantic and Pacific, the building of a naval base simply to care for the vessels now in the Pacific is not considered altogether sound. On the other hand, an immense expenditure would be required for a really large naval base sufficient to do the work expected of the American navy in an emergency in the Far East.

So there is a divergence of view even among our own military and naval experts as to what ought to be done about fortifying the Philippines, and it would not be surprising to see her own delegation finally persuaded to offer to halt further military expense in the Philippines if the Japanese curtailed their naval and military program too.

The Philippine commissioners here are anxious that the United States government include in the memorandum of understanding a provision that the Philippines be given a status at least to learn what is going on. They want to be consulted. The probabilities are that if they make a formal request for such a status it may be granted as there is no particular objection to it among liberal minded officials who see in the move an act of courtesy to the Philippines which have an integral part of the whole far eastern problem.

GREEN BAY RAIL SYSTEM PRAISED

Atlanta, Ga. — Green Bay was projected into national prominence at the first session of the convention of the National Association of Railway and Utility Commissioners here on Tuesday when it was pictured to the entire nation as a city in which the traction management was making progress, without imposing burdensome fares upon the public in solving the precarious situation created by the poor financial condition of street railways everywhere.

The association's committee on public utility rates, composed of six commissioners from different states, of which Lewis E. Gettle of the Wisconsin commission is chairman, cited that city as a typical example for study to the forty-seven states represented, and to other traction companies in the nation, as a plan worthy of emulation.

NEWBERRY SAYS HE WON'T RESIGN HIS SENATE SEAT NOW

Man Whose Right to Office Was Questioned Will Await Senate Decision

By Lawrence Martin
Copyright, 1921, by United Press.
Washington, D. C. — Senator Truman Newberry of Michigan will neither resign nor arise to defend himself before the senate against the charge that his election cost too much money, he said today.

This was Newberry's answer to recent suggestions that he do one or the other.

"I'll sit tight and wait with what patience I can summon for the senate to act on the report of the committee that investigated me," Newberry said.

His attitude, Newberry said, was based on "the best advice he could get."

"As to reports that I will resign," he said, "I have often wished myself out of all this, but to resign now is impossible."

May Be Embarrassed
Friends of the senator say that he realizes Republican leaders may be put in an embarrassing position by Democratic efforts to oust him, but that he considers resignation while he is under fire would be taken as an admission of guilt.

Senator Lodge, Republican leader, however, has been insisting that Newberry, in a speech to the senate, deny for himself that he personally spent large sums, or knew of the spending of any undue amount in the 1918 Michigan senatorial election.

MUST CUT WAGES AND PRICES TO END ECONOMIC CHAOS

Combinations With "Illegal Tinge" Will be Center of Attack by Conference

Washington, D. C. — Railroad rates, still more than 100 per cent above the average prewar level, must take the longest drop in the nation's economic readjustment, figures compiled by the national unemployment conference showed Wednesday.

Wages and retail prices must follow suit in the downward trend, the figures reveal, while the producer of raw materials is bearing the brunt of "hard times."

The figures show that freight rates are 157 per cent above the prewar level on flour, 114 per cent on beef shipments, 104 per cent on shoes and clothing, 110 per cent on brick, 79 per cent on cement and 87 to 109 per cent on coal.

Railway wages are 126 per cent above prewar figures, according to the table, while a general estimate of union wage scales in all lines is placed at 89 per cent. "The union wage scale in most packing is put at 86 per cent above prewar levels, in the shoe and woolen mills at 100 per cent, in the building trades at from 90 to 97, in mining 73 per cent, metal trades 118 per cent, in the United States Steel corporation 50 per cent and in the printing industry at 94 per cent."

These combinations, which have an illegal tinge, are holding up construction necessary to relieve the housing shortage, which would make a big gap in the ranks of the unemployed, the committee found. It recommended that Secretary of Commerce Hoover name the committees to break up these practices.

This sum, stated Cartier Inc., represents the amount Joyce owes for jewels he bought Peggy when the two were honeymooning on the continent.

The last heard of Peggy, she was scolding the natives at the Bay of Biscay in France.

She receives $15,000 a year temporary alimony from Joyce pending settlement of their domestic affairs.

Joyce asked a divorce from the girl on whom he lavished a million dollars' worth of finery.

Impressive Program in Lawrence Chapel to Commemorate Anniversary

OFFICERS MAKE REPORT

Wife of Governor Blaine Principal Speaker at Afternoon Session

To celebrate the twenty-fifth birthday of the Wisconsin Federation of Women's Clubs, the silver jubilee celebration will take place in Memorial chapel Wednesday evening. The opening session of the federation convention took place in the Congregational church at 2 o'clock when Mayor J. A. Hawes, Hugh Corbett and Mrs. D. O. Kinsman welcomed the delegates to the city. Mrs. Joshua Hodgins of Marinette, made the response. Reports of committees occupied the early part of the afternoon, while J. J. Elaine and Miss Elizabeth Kelly gave addresses.

The first three presidents of the Wisconsin Federation will be the speakers at the jubilee meeting Wednesday evening. They are Mrs. Charles Morris, Berlin, who is the founder of the federation and its first president and an honorary vice-president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. She will speak on "Responsibilities of Club Women." Mrs. Arthur Neville, Green Bay, the second president of the federation will talk on "Development of the Beautiful." Mrs. Henry Youmans of Waukesha, the third president will speak on "Let Us Remember Dr. Anna Howard Shaw."

Organ Recital
Two tableaux which will portray the spirit of the club in Wisconsin have been worked out by Mary Marguerite Arens of the Lawrence Conservatory of Music. Under Mrs. Arens' direction, the tableaux will be one of the features of the program. Frank T. Tabor, Jr., will give his first organ concert on the federation program at 7:45. Dean and Mrs. Carl Waterman will sing, and several selections will be presented by Miss Caroline Hess. The Lawrence choir will make its first appearance of the year on this program.

Delegates and visitors to the convention began to arrive early on Wednesday when every train brought club women from all directions. While Mrs. James G. Chandler, board of met with the executive board on Wednesday morning, local committee chairmen and their helpers were busy carrying on their work of the convention. The registration bureau with all its attendant committees and helpers were ready for business at 9 o'clock.

Arrange Exhibit
Exhibits including those on health, library work, educational problems and high school art were being placed on Wednesday morning. The health and child welfare exhibits will be shown in the Congregational church, the library exhibit at the Y. M. C. A., the educational display at the high school.

ATTEMPTS TO KILL WOMAN OF K. K. K.

Bloodhounds Fail to Bring Trace of Would-be Assassin — Simmons Threatened

Atlanta, Ga. — Police and county authorities with bloodhounds Wednesday were endeavoring to pick up the trail of persons who fired five shots at Mrs. Elizabeth Tyler, head of the propagation department of the Ku Klux Klan, through her bedroom window Tuesday night.

None of the shots took effect. Bloodhounds found the trail of the would-be assassin under Mrs. Tyler's window. They followed it to the Howell Mill road, a distance of about 100 yards from the window and there lost it.

All further efforts to pick up a trail were vain. Shortly after the shooting some one is said to have called a morning newspaper on the telephone "I just wanted to say that we got Mrs. Tyler tonight and we will get Simmons tomorrow," the mysterious voice is quoted as saying. The man would not name.

SINGER CHARMS OLD FRIENDS IN SONG RECITAL

Mme. Melius Displays Wonderful Improvement in Concert for Home Folks

With a program all too short, Mme. Luella Melius delighted an audience of Appleton friends at Lawrence Memorial chapel Tuesday evening when she appeared in her first American concert since her return from Europe in July. Her voice which was always clear and colorful has mellowed and developed until it has a powerful and rounded quality which few soprano voices possess. These qualities were shown especially in the open numbers which Mme Melius included in her repertoire. She sang the Ball Song from "Lakme" by Delibes and the Shadow Song from "Dinorah" by Meyerbeer in a pleasing manner. Mme. Melius responded gratefully to the appreciation of the audience composed of many of her childhood friends. After her second group, she spoke to the audience of her appreciation and told them with almost girlish frankness how much she had wanted to come home to sing to her friends. The artist sang only the quint old songs as encores and after the final group included "Annie Laurie" and a "Home Sweet Home" playing her own accompaniments. The emotional strain of the latter song after she had been away from Appleton for many years caused the artist to break down and weep before she had finished. While in Europe, Mme. Melius has acquired a wonderful technique, which seems too evident in some of her simpler numbers. In her effort to please her audience, Mme. Melius lost some of the simplicity and charm which has marked her earlier concerts. Cleveland Bohnett, formerly of the Lawrence Conservatory of Music was at the piano.

LOCAL COMPANY IS BUILDING HUGE LOCK

C. S. Dickinson, Major C. A. Green, and George and Charles Baldwin left for Marseilles, Ill., Tuesday where Major Green's company is building the first lock of the deep waterway between Lake Michigan and the Gulf of Mexico. The lock is to rank in size with those of the Soo and Panama canals and will cost over a million dollars. It will require nearly two years to complete it.

HORSE FALLS THROUGH COVERING OF OLD WELL

One of the horses of a delivery team belonging to the Ballet Supply Co., backed through the covering of an old well in the company's yards Saturday that was not known to exist. The well was located in the rear of the former office of Julius Bartman and was filled with water. The plank was covered with several inches of gravel and earth. The animal's legs went through the plank nearly to its body, but it got them out before the driver had time to assist it and escaped injury.

40 APPLETON KNIGHTS MARCH IN BIG PARADE

Appleton Knights Templar who took part in the parade of 4,000 knights in Milwaukee Tuesday during the annual state convocation returned home Tuesday evening. Between 30 and 40 members of Appleton commandery marched in full uniform. The parade along Grand-ave, was impressive, stretching for nearly a mile. The plumed knights passed in grand review before dignitaries, and various commanderies then entered into competitive drills in Milwaukee auditorium. A battalion drill, followed by a grand band, featured the evening's program.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Carnecross, Mr. and Mrs. John Neller, John R. Watson, W. O. Thiede and Dr. George E. Massart have returned from Three Lakes, where they were guests at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Dierich for the greater part of a week.

LINCOLN'S SON IS "HERMIT"

ROBERT TODD LINCOLN AND HIS HOME IN GEORGETOWN.

Washington — This story is about the hermit of Georgetown. Georgetown is the oldest, quaintest quarter of Washington. The atmosphere of colonial days still hangs over its antique red brick buildings and shaded back sidewalks. Georgetown's hermit is Robert Todd Lincoln. He is the son of Abraham Lincoln. Few Georgetown people have seen Lincoln. Those who have, describe him as a bent old man. "Mr. Lincoln ain't home," a negro gardener tells you. He's at his country house in New Hampshire. But he never sees no one, anyway, even when he's here. If Lincoln would talk to you, he would tell this story: "I was born at Springfield, Ill., Aug. 1, 1843, while my father was beginning his fight to the top in state politics. That makes me 78 now. "In 1859 I was graduated from the University of Illinois at Urbana. While father was at the White House, I was beginning my course at Harvard.

"Then the war broke out. I left school to serve as a captain on General Grant's staff. "I was discharged in 1865—and you know what happened to my father then. In my grief I went back to my old home in Illinois. "I was admitted to the bar in Chicago in 1867 and was married the following year. "Politics? I was a presidential elector, served as secretary of war under Garfield and Arthur and later was minister to Great Britain. "My fortune is based on my connection as special counsel for and later as president of several big business concerns in Chicago and elsewhere. "And now — Lincoln has settled down in the very shadow of his life's greatest tragedy. And his wife shares his seclusion.

Mr. Zilleke said he never saw so many trappers who devote all their time to catching fur bearing animals. The bounty on wolves, which have been killing a great many sheep in that part of the state is about $50. Muskrats are the principal animals caught and a bear occasionally falls a victim. Hunters and tourists are rapidly deserting the region.

The late Lawson Tait, of England, the great woman's doctor, said he never went to bed at night without thanking heaven he was not born a woman. No doctor ever knew better than he what women have to suffer at some times of their lives. It was an American woman, long since passed to her reward, who introduced a combination of roots and herbs called Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that has proved wonderfully successful in mitigating suffering and relieving diseases of women. It has brought relief to thousands of women who suffered from female ills. adv.

VALLEY IS BUSIEST SECTION OF STATE

Master Builders Hold Important Meeting Here—State Officers Attend

The Master Builders association held its most important meeting of the year at its headquarters on College-ave. Tuesday evening. All the cities of Fox River valley were represented and among the state officers present were O. H. Ulbrecht of Milwaukee, secretary; R. C. Fidge, of Milwaukee, who represented the presdent who is ill; H. L. Gelsier of Madison, secretary of the Mutual Liability Co. connected with the association; and Mr. Howitt of Madison, claim agent.

Mr. Gelsier gave a talk on the benefits of liability insurance to contractors and also public liability insurance on automobiles and trucks which the company carries. Mr. Fidge talked on the benefits which members of the association have derived from organization and what they have accomplished by adopting the quantity survey system for estimating contracts. Secretary Ulbrecht exhibited forms of the system which met with general approval. Mr. Ulbrecht also explained the unit hour system adopted by the association which is now in use in Milwaukee and by means of which a contractor can tell the time it takes to set a joint, a window frame, or anything else in the building line. Discussions were held on several important matters.

The next issue of the association bulletin will be prepared in Appleton and will be devoted principally to the Fox river valley which the state officers claim is the business section of the state. The state officers in charge of the new buildings in course of erection in Appleton Wednesday morning and left for Neenah and Menasha Wednesday afternoon.

Guests at Theatre Orphans at Riverview sanatorium and all patients who were able to leave the building were guests of Manager Henry Gribler in Appleton theatre Wednesday afternoon to see the moving picture, "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse." Veterans of the Spanish-American war have been invited to the evening performance.

NEED 100 AUTOS TO TAKE WOMEN ON TOUR OF CITY

One hundred automobiles are wanted by the Appleton Chamber of Commerce to carry the 500 women visitors who are here attending the state convention of Wisconsin Women's clubs on a tour of the city Thursday. "Besides showing a spirit of real hospitality to the visitors," said Secretary Hugh G. Corbett, "by giving the use of their automobiles, people of the city will be advertising Appleton in the best kind of way." Up till Wednesday morning only 25 automobiles had been promised and 75 more are needed.

Acting Police Chief Police Captain P. J. Vaughn is acting chief of police during the absence of Chief George T. Prim who is attending the meeting of municipal officers of the state which is being held in Janesville.

IF SKIN BREAKS OUT AND ITCHES APPLY SULPHUR

Just the moment you apply Mentho-Sulphur to an itching, burning or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, made into a pleasant cold cream, gives such a quick relief, even to fiery eczema, that nothing has ever been found to take its place. Because of its germ destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching, cools the irritation and heals the eczema right up, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness. You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Mentho Sulphur at any drug store.

THE VIGOR OF THE INDIAN

The American Indian of days gone by was strong, vigorous and in perfect health. He depended on roots, herbs and the tonic effects of nature to keep him so. Lipsey's Stomach Bitters—an age old remedy—will keep you toned up, give strength to the digestive organs and provide a palatable, invigorating stimulant for a run-down physical condition. Purchase it from your druggist. If he cannot supply you, send $1.50 (money order or registered letter) with his name and address, and we will send you a true bottle at once. Address Lipsey Products Company, Douglas Blvd., Chicago.

Service Recognition Board Wants Red Cross to Help Find Soldiers

Because many of the bonus checks and discharge papers mailed to former service men after they had filed their applications for bonus have been returned unclaimed, the Service Recognition board of Madison has written the Red Cross chapters of the state to enlist their aid in finding these men in order that they may claim their bonus and recover their discharge papers.

The list furnished to the Outagamie County chapter of the Red Cross bears the following names:

Charles Abrahams, Beaumont Hotel, Green Bay; William Dillenburgh, Shawano; Jonas Smith, Oneida; Karl William Bauernfeind, Royalton; Donald R. Burnham, Waupaca; James J. Daly, Oshkosh; Harold Hanley, Oshkosh; Harvey M. Koch, Oshkosh; Charles Raymond LaRoc, Green Bay; Elmer Roberts, Green Bay; Edward A. Schumacher, Green Bay; Charles Sperling, Shawano; Walter Stanlak, Menasha and Peter Wypyszinski, Green Bay.

The addresses given are the last known addresses of these men. They may recover their discharge or bonus by writing the Service Recognition board at Madison, giving the dates

Do You Recall This Party Of 25 Years Ago?

A dancing whist pageant under the auspices of Grace Episcopal church, now All Saints' church, was presented at the armory twenty-five years ago. Brilliant costumes, artistic grouping and fancy dances featured the entertainment. The central idea was the playing of a game of whist.

with animated cards consisting of ladies and gentlemen in appropriate costumes. Thirteen tricks were played and each trick was an intricate dance by the cards played. Besides the playing of the tricks there were marches and ensemble dances by the entire pack, and the four jacks, negars, Charles, Cones, Holmes, John Stevens, and Frank Holbrook introduced amusing specialties besides furnishing the comedy of the performance.

Those taking part in the pageant were:

Florence Rogers, Belle McArthur, Mrs. W. L. Martson, Edith Edwards, Ella Wood, Emily Parsons, Mary VanNortwick, Zana Miller, Maud Zonne, Maud Briggs, Miss Harwood, Belle Lilman, Miss Henwood, Miss E. ARTIST TO SING FOR CONVENTION

Mme. Luella Melius, who scored so great a success Tuesday night at the Lawrence Memorial Chapel, was immediately engaged by the Wisconsin Federation of Women's Club after the concert to sing again Wednesday night before the convention.

It was the artist's intention to leave on the morning train for Chicago, but she has cancelled other engagements to sing before the Badger clubwomen.

"I am gratified at this invitation to sing two nights in succession in my home town and it is with great pleasure that I am staying over to do this," the artist said.

While here she is being entertained at the home of Mrs. C. S. Dickinson on Alton-st.

W. & N. OFFICES MOVE TO CHICAGO

General officers of the former Wisconsin and Northern railroad in the Toech building have been closed up. The records have been moved to the company's Chicago office in City Hall Square building, where the books will be closed and other closing up details taken care of. C. H. Hartley, general manager, C. C. Nelson, general auditor, and D. F. Geller, chief clerk, have been transferred to Chicago while the work is being completed. The Soo line now has taken full charge of the road, with George S. Sweetman in charge as local agent.

Think of it! A complete outfit consisting of ARCOLA and four "American" Radiators—which will heat this whole house with beautiful hot-water warmth—costs no more to install than a stove for each room.

ARCOLA will add three times its cost to the value of your house

REMEMBER this about ARCOLA—It really costs you nothing.

If you stay in your present house three years, ARCOLA will pay for itself in the coal it will save. Your Heating Contractor knows this; let him tell you the experiences of some of the thousands of ARCOLA owners.

If you plan to sell next Spring, ARCOLA will add much more than its cost to the selling-value of the house—just as IDEAL Boilers and larger AMERICAN Radiator systems add far more than their cost to the value of larger buildings.

And think of the comfort this winter of having every room warmed with ARCOLA's healthful heat—the same kind which one of our larger heating plants gives the White House itself.

Think of the joy of being free from dirty, stuffy stoves and hot-air furnaces forever. And the satisfaction of having plenty of hot water for washing and bathing besides!

ARCOLA is unlike any heating outfit you ever saw—a wonderful new invention—as handsome as a fine phonograph and costing hardly any more. Don't try to imagine what it is like; go to your Heating Contractor and let him show you today.

The red and yellow card at the left is the sign of a Heating or Sanitary Engineer (formerly called Steamfitter or Plumber) who can show you ARCOLA. Look for it in his window.

It will pay you to consult him twice a year as you do your Doctor or Dentist. To have him examine and report on your heating and plumbing costs little. It may save you a very great deal.

JOSEPH P. DAY, of New York, who has sold more real estate at auction than any other man in the world, says: "One of the best things the buyer of a house makes about is the heating. An ARCOLA hot-water heating outfit can easily add from three to five times its cost to the selling-value of the house."

THE CANAL TOLLS BILL

It is not surprising that the United States senate has passed the bill exempting American coastwise shipping from payment of Panama Canal tolls. A poll of the senate within the last two weeks showed that the measure would command a majority. The lack of any great moral leadership in the senate, the relatively low standard of intellectual capacity among its membership and the abasement of conscience inspired by partisanship, all combined to make the senate insensible to the fact that in passing this bill it proposes to break the pledged word of the nation and to violate a solemn treaty obligation. On the side voting to cast our national good faith into dispute we find Mr. Newberry and his $195,000 credentials. Messrs. Reed and La Follette with their obvious hatred of England, Mr. Penrose with his high ethical ideals, and others actuated by varying motives. Mr. Lodge was estopped from supporting the bill by his previous denunciation of its compromising effects, although there was nothing in the senator's past record to prohibit him from repudiating the position he had once taken. While the division was not wholly partisan, it was essentially political.

Some pressure has been brought, including the advice of President Harding, to delay action on the measure until after the disarmament conference at Washington next month, on the theory that nothing should be done at this time which might give offense to Great Britain and thus endanger the results of the meeting. This proposal only added to the duplicity of the scheme of those bent upon exempting American coastwise shipping from tolls, regardless of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. A program so obviously cowardly could only enhance the condemnation the country is certain to receive throughout the diplomatic world. If we are to break a treaty, we should break it and take the consequences and not seek to profit by attempting to conceal our intentions.

It is to be hoped the house will not postpone consideration of the bill if the sentiment in that body is for sustaining the senate. The senate having taken its stand, the insincerity of the house in stalling for time would be apparent to everyone. In that event Great Britain could only take it for granted that the United States meant to repudiate the treaty and govern itself accordingly. Stupendous as are the issues involved in the disarmament conference, the principle of national honor at stake in the canal tolls bill is even greater so far as it relates to the United States. How we can go before the conference and ask the world to believe in our professions of righteousness and a desire for peace in international dealings, and at the same time justify our breaking of a solemn treaty obligation is not easily comprehended. It would seem that the very foundation of disarmament lies in the sanctity of treaties and in the observance of good faith and honor as between nations. We do not see how a reduction of armaments can rest upon any other basis. Moreover, the world looks to the United States for leadership in this first step toward universal peace and toward relieving peoples from the onerous burdens of military preparedness. Standing as we do today in a questionable light before other nations by reason of our peace policies growing immediately out of the war, it can hardly be said that we shall be in a commanding moral position to initiate or advance the aims of the Washington conference.

In endeavoring to measure the quality of the act pending before congress we cannot help but contrast the state of present day politics with American statesmanship of the past, of the days when the first thought of our lawmakers and our administrators was the preservation of national honor and good faith. Having broken faith with the allies in the making of a separate peace it is perhaps logical that we should break faith with Great Britain to escape the distasteful requirements of a treaty. Possibly in both procedures we make material gains, but if our materialism and commercialism have carried us to the extreme of treaty breaking it is hardly likely that in the long run the profit in dollars will equal the loss in moral prestige.

We are of the opinion that as purely a national proposition the Panama canal should be free to the use of American coastwise shipping. The economic and commercial consequences are matters which should not govern federal policy in a question of this kind, for the simple reason that they are sectional and individual, but until we can obtain an agreement from England to modify the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, a subject upon which we have not even approached her through the natural diplomatic channels, it would be better to continue the handicap under which our coastwise shipping is compelled to operate.

COLUMBUS DAY

October 12 is the 429th anniversary of the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus. All over the world it is celebrated as Columbus Day. What Columbus sought was a short-cut route to India, by way of the westward ocean. What he discovered was more than a continent, it was a turning point in civilization and government.

When the fearless Italian navigator landed on the Island of Guanahani, West Indies, in the early morning of October 12, 1492, he opened the door of the land that made government by the people possible. Gold lured the early explorers of America. But it was refugees from European political oppression that built the foundations of the mighty civilization that has risen on the American continent.

Individually and as a nation, we owe a tremendous debt to Christopher Columbus. And let us not forget the queen who pawned her jewels to finance his venture into the uncharted Atlantic Ocean.

FORTY-NINE PRODUCTS GROW

Whoever thinks that agriculture is not a science and a business should consider the interesting work done by John L. Cliett, a former resident of Georgia, on his farm near Prosser, Washington. He has grown forty-nine varieties of crops on his property. His achievement probably is the record for diversification.

One of Mr. Cliett's surprising feats is the grafting of fruit buds to seedling sprouts, seedling buds to old trees, and one kind of fruit to another. An apple tree produced twenty-four varieties of fruit. This scientific farmer's forty-nine crops include cotton, tobacco, peanuts, potatoes, watermelon, corn, figs and numerous kinds of fruit.

Good soil, an active mind and interest in the work make farming a pleasure and a success. Modern agriculture is a leading science and great business.

ABRAHAM THE CAPITAL OF LINCOLN

Efforts are renewed vigorously to form a new state, to be known as Lincoln, of the eastern half of Washington and the strip of Idaho which lies between Washington and Montana. In connection with the plan it is suggested that a new town, Abraham, would be built as the capital. Lincoln would be as large as Pennsylvania, almost as large as Iowa, or as large as Illinois, Indiana and Ohio combined. Washington, cut in half, would be the same size as Minnesota, Wisconsin or Missouri.

Proponents of the plan argue that the western half of Washington and southern portion of Idaho are commercial, while the territory which would comprise Lincoln is agricultural. Once a commonwealth is a going concern and flourishing, a division of territory is almost an impossibility. Every section has a material interest in the state, and the state has real interest in every section. A state is more inclined to absorb than to relinquish territory, property and taxes.

The consideration would have to be virtually irresistible to induce Washington and Idaho to part with large and prosperous districts. It is pleasing, however, to think of the state of Lincoln, with the capital of Abraham.

ACTION WANTED, NOT COMEDY

If the views of President Harding are to serve as guide, Congress can proceed with the work of the extra session during the meetings of the conference on limitation of armaments. While the president has made no public statement on the subject, the authentic intimation comes that he sees no necessity for an adjournment with important legislation pressing for enactment.

The suggestion of an adjournment of the extra session on November 19 was based principally upon the fear that influences unfriendly to the administration would be exerted toward embarrassing the president. But President Harding is not concerned over the threat of opposition. Consequently Congress need not contemplate an adjournment out of consideration for the feelings of the executive, but may keep at the duties for which it was called into extraordinary session.—WASHINGTON POST (Ind.)

VITAMINS

Nowadays the newspaper reader acquires a little information about new discoveries of science about as soon as the discoveries are made, if not sooner.

It is quite a spell now since vitamins were invented and we don't know what they are yet. No chemist or physicist or physiologist has isolated or identified or described vitamins, although numerous merchants are marketing them. No chemist has found just what the pleasure is in tobacco, but a great many of us, users of it, are convinced it is there.

Candidly I don't know just how many different vitamins there were at the last census by the scientists, but three kinds are distinguished by these titles: (1) Fat soluble A, or antirachitic factor (preventive of rickets); (2) Water soluble B, or antineuritic factor (preventive of beri beri, the multiple neuritis of the tropics); (3) Antiscorbutic factor (preventive of scurvy).

These food items contain fat soluble A factor: Butter, cream, cod liver oil, mutton fat, beef or suet, peanut oil, margarin in proportion as it contains animal fat, nut butters, livers, kidneys, hearts, sweetbreads, brains, fish, raw milk, fresh eggs, dried eggs, entire wheat (as it comes from the threshers), fresh raw cabbage, lettuce, spinach. These items are not so rich in fat soluble A factor: Lean meat, condensed milk, cheese, potatoes, carrots, bananas, nuts.

These foods contain water soluble B factor: Fresh eggs, dried eggs, entire wheat (unmilled grain), liver, brains, sweetbreads, bran, germinated cereals, nuts, yeast. These foods are not so rich in water soluble B factor: Potatoes, bananas, cabbage, lettuce, lean meat, milk.

These foods are rich in antiscorbutic factor: Raw cabbage, fresh lemon juice, fresh orange juice, tomato juice (fresh or canned tomatoes), raw expressed juice of citrus fruits. These items are not rich in antiscorbutic factor: Apples, raspberries, fresh beans, germinated cereals, lean meat, liver, raw milk, skim milk, fresh raw carrots, cooked potatoes.

These items contain no vitamins at all: Lard, olive oil, cottonseed oil, coconut oil, linseed oil, coco butter, hardened fats of animal or vegetable origin, margarin from vegetable fats or lard, cheese from skim milk, polished rice, white wheat flour, pure cornflour, custard powders, egg substitutes, peafour (dried), meat extract, beer.

Vitamins are plentifully supplied in practically any diet one can select in America.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Exercise Not a Panacea

Please give me a set of exercises which will aid in overcoming colitis. (M. J. A.)

I know of no exercise which would be likely to be of any benefit under such circumstances. Exercises may even be harmful—of course I cannot say without knowledge of the individual's present condition.

Growing Pains

Some time ago I read a reply about growing pains, or better, leg ache in young children. I have one child so affected, and would appreciate any information you can give me as to cause and prevention of such pains. (M. W. E.)

Answer.—Of course growing pains never pains the child. Such pains are often due to the toxemia or poison in the blood, from infected tonsils, which should be removed before actual joint disease develops. In some instances so-called "growing pains" are neglected or ignored until a belated discovery of tuberculosis of spine or hip is made. A child complaining of such pains needs careful examination.

Chinning and Dipping

Does chinning strain the heart or other internal organs? Does dipping (on the horizontal bar) also strain the heart? (J. B. S.)

Answer.—No. Of course any excessive muscular exertion puts a demand on the heart, and youths sometimes strain the heart in contests or competition for which they are poorly trained—as in high school football, for instance.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

Wednesday, Oct. 14, 1896

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hart celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary the day previous. The movement for the establishment of a free reading room was growing rapidly and subscriptions were being solicited with success.

The supreme court of the state handed down a decision annulling the Buckstaff fish law under the provisions of which many seizures of nets and prosecutions of fishermen on Lake Winnebago were made.

Stephen Balliet of Dale, one of the oldest pioneers of the county, was in the city looking as hale and hearty as a man of 40. It was his first visit here in about a year.

A barn belonging to Mr. Schufelke on Summer-st. was destroyed by fire at 1 o'clock in the morning. There was a suspicion the fire was of incendiary origin.

W. C. Silverthorn, democratic nominee for governor, delivered a free silver speech at the Grand opera house. (Turner hall) the evening previous.

Sixth ward resident organized a Republican club with William Wilson, president; James Lyons, vice president; D. G. Hatch, secretary; and James Hanchett, treasurer.

Word reached Appleton of the drowning of E. A. Jones of Pittsfield, Mass. The deceased was junior member of the firm of E. D. Jones Sons Co., architects and manufacturers of paper machinery.

He was well known in Appleton, where his firm designed one of the mills of Fox River Paper Co. Sophie Kahler, 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kahler, lost her life by drowning.

TODAY'S POEM

By Berton Brakley

OMNISCIENCE

There's only twelve people on earth, so they say.
Who understand Einstein; but that isn't true.
Twelve get him, perhaps, in a "relative way."
But full comprehension is given but two.
The deep inner meaning, the secret, the key,
Is known but to Einstein, to Einstein and Me.

By Einstein's great theory all things are clear:
The tariff, domestic and foreign relations,
The weather we get at this time of the year,
But due to the average mind's limitations,
The answers are known in their entirety
To no one but Einstein—but Einstein and Me.

Such questions ask, "Why don't the taxes go down?"
And "Why do the prices stay stubbornly high?"
And "Where is a flax to be rented in town?"
And "When will America really go dry?"
And "Where can I get it?" Such questions can be Solved only by Einstein, by Einstein and Me!

We've settled all problems, we've doped them all out,
In seven dimensions, or maybe it's eight.
When Einstein has solved himself some what in doubt,
He's asked my opinion and I've got him straight;
But what our conclusions are, ever will be
A secret 'twixt Einstein—'twixt Einstein and Me!

Warning To Scribes

By Frederic J. Haskin

New York. — "Don't waste your time and energy writing for the movies. They don't appreciate it."

This is the advice of Professor Walter P. Pitkin of the School of Journalism at Columbia University here, who has recently made a study of the demands of American moving picture companies for story material.

He finds that the one thing they do not want is the one thing they have been receiving in such enormous volume for the past five years—namely, the amateur scenario, written by a novice who has never marketed copy in any form. The movies are not in the field for raw material. They prefer the finished, polished product which has appeared in print.

It is estimated that the combined output of moving picture producers in this country is limited to 50 new subjects per week, while the average weekly output of the scenario-writing multitude is 8,000. One large producing company alone receives more than 500 unsolicited scenarios every week. The great majority of these are read by reading clerks who are paid anywhere from $15 to $25 a week and are promptly returned or thrown into the wastebasket.

This is principally because they are incredibly bad, but also because the movies, while careless and extravagant in many ways, are too cautious to take chances in producing original scenarios when they have at their disposal large numbers of short stories and novels whose success has already been demonstrated by the sales of publishers.

This is not written with an idea of discouraging the amateur scenario writer—that would be impossible. But if he really has a knack for plots and the energy to set them down, why not try another writing form? Many disappointed scenarioists have already found solace in poetry, and now Professor Pitkin has another hopeful suggestion. He advocates the short story.

"Thousands of earnest men and women today are wasting precious time trying to break into pictures by writing for them," he says. "They are trying to break through a locked door. Another door stands open to them just around the corner, but they fail to see it."

"Writing synopses or scenarios directly for the moving pictures is in the long run a waste of time and for three reasons: "First: To sell your stories to the movies you must show fully their dramatic or pictorial possibilities. This can be done in a skeletonized outline. If you hear any one denying this, you may be sure that he knows nothing about story writing. A story idea must be written out to show its full values."

"Second: It is so easy to dash off the incomplete idea of a movie plot in a few hundred words that thousands of inexperienced writers are always doing it. Movie editors receive thousands of such contributions every week. It is thus impossible for them to read all these manuscripts, much less to judge them carefully. Not more than one in a hundred ever receives serious attention. This is not anybody's fault. The whole system is ridiculous."

"Third: It is commercially wasteful to submit scenarios to the movies. Any story idea good enough for the better movies is good enough for the short story, and as a story can generally be sold to a magazine for more than a movie will give. Once sold to a magazine, it stands a much better chance of being sold to the movies. The full story shows its dramatic values and a sale to the movies means double pay. Furthermore, a story sent to a magazine is almost certain to be read and considered."

"The only exception to these remarks is the professional scenario writer employed by the motion picture companies. The existence of these highly trained experts within the industry is a natural result of the evolution of the movies. It is their duty to take stories, novels or plays which the companies have purchased and pick out the episodes that can be photographed, write explanatory titles and generally arrange the material for screen production."

"When story writers attempt these arrangements or 'continuity' as it is called, they compete with these specialists. It is not worth doing. The expert continuity writers in general find that it is a waste of their time to invent plots or write stories. For one thing, they are too busy, and their mastery of continuity is no guarantee of their knowing anything at all about creative writing."

For a long period the scenario remained an extremely minor feature compared to the importance of the star. The public went to see its favorite moving picture actors and actresses regardless of the type of story they appeared in, and the discrepancies in the narrative did not bother them. But gradually as the number of stars increased and the delightful novelty of moving pictures wore off, they began to turn a mildly critical eye upon the stories. Then the day of the scenario writer dawned. Companies started hiring individuals at large salaries to do nothing but write scenarios for certain stars, while scenarios were loudly solicited from the general public. A moderately good scenario in those days brought $200 to $1,000, which is a trifling higher than the rate paid today.

This period, however, did not last long. Soon it was seen that the best copy for long six-reel features was undoubtedly the popular novel, and the large companies started buying the picture rights of well known books. The scenario writer—especially the untalented, unknown scenario writer—lost out to the successful author. Even the scenario experts employed by the large producing companies ceased turning out original moving picture dramas and changed their titles to "continuity experts." A few of them, refusing to abandon original creative work, became directors. This is largely the way things stand today. The demand for the works of successful authors is still booming and as there is every indication that the supply will hold out indefinitely, it is probable that the call for outside scenarios will not be heard again for years to come.

THE QUESTION BOX

(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Appleton Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medical, financial and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Q. What is the difference between skilled and unskilled laborers? G. J. G.

A. Skilled laborers are those requiring such training in a particular occupation as would involve material industrial loss in a transference to other occupations. Any laborers who do not have to serve an apprenticeship to learn a trade are unskilled laborers.

Q. Who built the road to Pike's Peak, and who gets the tolls? M. F. W.

A. The American Automobile Association says that the road running up Pike's Peak is a state highway.

Q. Money received from tolls is used for the upkeep on the road.

Q. What will bring the luster back to a tortoise shell comb? H. L. W.

A. To revive tortoise shell combs, which often get dull and dingy-looking, dip the finger in linseed oil and rub over the whole surface of the comb. If there is a pattern on the comb, it may be necessary to use a soft brush to get it into the crevices.

Then rub with the palm of the hand until all oil has disappeared, when the shell feels hot and looks bright and shiny.

A Resume of American Newspaper Opinion

The Press at the Arms Conference

Whether or not the sessions of the Conference on Limitation of Armaments are to be open to the general public, it is the evident purpose of the American press that the eyes and ears of the entire country shall be present in the person of an adequate press representation to which the proceedings of the conference shall at all times be available. Some papers limit their stand for publicity to a "reasonable degree," others contend that the standards of the foreign delegates in that matter must be deferred to, even though the American desire is for open discussion; and a few feel that it is wholly a question for the conference itself to determine. But the majority of papers demand a free field for the journalists who cover the meeting; instead of the customary official communiques and "diplomatic censorship."

A committee "representing not only the literary organizations of Washington newspaper men but a large proportion of the foreign journalists who will come to America from all parts of the world in November" is preparing, according to information given by the NEW YORK GLOBE (Ind.), "to fight to the death for open covenants openly arrived at." The GLOBE admits that cynics might point out that the journalists made a similar demand before the peace conference in Paris, and that, in spite of all, that conference was essentially an instance of secret negotiation; but the paper replies that in that case the demands "were only halfheartedly made" and that it is exactly because of the "object lesson of the treaty of Versailles" that the arms conference must be "an entirely different footing." In the conduct of the Washington meeting, the FORT WAYNE JOURNAL GAZETTE (Ind.) says, "the agencies of publicity are determined that it shall not be their fault if the people are Jobbed by the secret work of professional diplomats and politicians," who, according to the ST. PAUL NEWS (Ind.) will seek by means of "accusations and complete exposure" of the proceedings handed out to the press, to limit information reaching the American people to "such facts as some conference committee of censors thinks is good for them." This policy the press will not tolerate. The NEWS believes: "either there is a free American press capable of passing upon legitimate news of concern to the entire public, or the inevitable process is one that will lie down and permit its readers to be drugged by whatever medicine a foreign or domestic censorship may hand out," and for its part it "will resort to every legitimate means of newspaperdom for procuring all the news of that conference without regard to what that conference thinks the public should or should not have in the way of news."

This is undoubtedly a popular point of view, the SPRINGFIELD UNION (Rep.) concedes, and "if newspapers regarded the matter solely with a view to their own interests, they would be natural advocates of free access to all developments of an international meeting, so pre-empted with possibilities for news," but "in such matters there is an inevitable clash between devotion to a theory and appreciation of hard fact." The NEW YORK POST (Ind.) finds that "the general mind has been sobered and educated on this matter of publicity since the days when the unfortunate 'open covenants' became a personal and partisan taunt and we have come to see the reasonable limitations on publicity which the facts impose everywhere on everybody." No body of men, the POST-LAND OREGONIAN (Ind. Rep.) feels, "could be expected to reach proper conclusions" on such matters as will be negotiated, "if every word and every suggestion were reported, discussed and judged apart from all else by the closely watchful nation." The result of such "an attempt at publicity," it believes, would be "private conferences of a few delegates at which deals would be made." In the deliberate judgment of "more than one historian," the PHILADELPHIA BULLETIN (Ind. Rep.) remarks, "our federal constitution could never have been framed in the convention that created that great work had not sat behind closed doors," and in the "great debate" to come the same rule will hold, the paper thinks, so "the delegates should be let alone." "Secret conferences and star chamber agreements might possibly expedite the business of the conference," the MILWAUKEE SENTINEL (Rep.) agrees, but they "will not meet with approval," and "will inevitably react against the completed work." It was "just this device of a clique of powerful politicians meeting in secret and deciding among themselves the 'important' questions of the conference without giving the peoples of the world an opportunity to express themselves," which in the judgment of the LEXINGTON LEADER (Rep.) "marred and blackened the entire work" of the peace conference at Paris. "After all, what is there to conceal," asks the FLINT (Mich.) JOURNAL (Ind.), "what is there that should be brought to light in such a conference that the people of the various nations have not the right to know?" Any attempt to keep from the people a matter in which they are vitally interested must result, the DAYTON NEWS (Dem.) feels, in arousing a very "human suspicion." "Publicity will not embarrass the conference or retard its work," the ST. LOUIS POST DISPATCH (Ind.) declares without it in the opinion of the SEATTLE TIMES (Ind.), "another international failure is certain." Certainly the old doctrine has not proved so successful, the CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR (Boston, Ind.) holds, that any one could possibly maintain "that the treaties of the past have been such models of wisdom or so effective in their aims as to disarm the advocates of the new diplomacy." "The very failures of the past" amply justify an experiment with the new policy of open dealings and full publicity.

FOREIGN PRESS DIGEST

Disarmament—All or Nothing
General Verraux, writing in the Paris OEUVERE, regards efforts at "limitation of armaments" as illusory. Arms do not produce wars—they are merely the implements of war. Instead of beginning by reducing armaments, he begins by doing away with war. Then abolish armaments altogether—for if there is to be no more war, we shall need no armaments. This is the gist of the argument which he develops forcefully in the following article:

"At the last session of the League of Nations it was proposed to undertake a comparative study of the military strength of each state before and after the war, and to ascertain whether this strength corresponded to the needs of national defense of each of them, needs resulting from the political and geographical situation. In the case where they would seem exaggerated the states would be asked to reduce their armaments."

"In my opinion this is a wrong starting point. Admitting that this study can be carried out, that is to say that all the states agree or that there are sufficient means of controlling refractory members, among them who do not belong to the League—which is doubtful—the conclusion would always be passive, as the League has no power to enforce its propositions."

"At the most, a study undertaken in this way would lead to a reduction of armaments. There is the great mistake. I fear, by the way, that this mistake will be perpetuated at Washington."

"If there are indeed some honest people who would carry out the stipulations of the agreement, others would only pretend to submit, and would use all sort of cunning resources to prepare in secret an important mobilization. All the investigations in the world could not prevent this."

GIVE PRIZES TO HELP WOMEN GET ACQUAINTED

A novel way to aid acquaintance-ship among delegates to the state convention of women's club federation has been adopted by Appleton Women's club in cooperation with the Geenen Dry Goods Co. Numbers, two in a set, are distributed at convention headquarters, meeting halls and at the Geenen store. Women are requested to find others who have the same numbers and when the doubles are completed prizes are received by calling at the Geenen store. The first two women to complete the doubles and call for their prizes were Mrs. E. J. Stevis of Menomonie, Wis., and Mrs. G. W. Hill of Hudson.

HEAVY SCHEDULE FOR Y. M. C. A. GYMNASIUM

Indications are that the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium will be crowded to the limit this year. "Gym" classes are being organized and several new class periods are to be organized. The extra classes for men will be held at 11 o'clock on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, and 12:15 on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Scout Meetings
For scout meetings will be held Wednesday night as follows: Troop 1, at Alexander Gymnasium under Scoutmaster Leigh Hooley; troop 2, at First ward school under Scoutmaster John Hancock; troop 3, at Columbia hall under Scoutmaster Chris Mollen. Troop 4 will hold its first meeting of the year at the high school under direction of Scoutmaster Fred Trelice.

Dishes For Crispy Days

Left-Overs have a way of accumulating in a maddening way some-times. The Sunday roast is seldom all used up at dinner and can't be thrown away.

Hash carefully made is liked by most men and makes a nourishing one-dish main course. Meat balls and meat pies are easy to prepare onion juice and parsley with hot water. Put in the hot frying pan and spread smoothly. Cook over moderate heat. Do not stir, but let brown and form a crust on the bottom. Fold like an omelet and serve garnished with sprigs of parsley. It will take over half an hour for the hash to brown.

Meat Balls
Two cups chopped meat, 1/4 cup dried bread crumbs, 1 egg, salt and pepper, milk.

The meat should be put through the fine knife of the food chopper. Mix meat, bread crumbs, salt and pepper thoroughly in a deep mixing bowl. Add eggs, unbroken, and mix well with a fork. Add milk slowly, beating constantly. Add as much milk as the meat and bread crumbs will absorb. The mixture should be quite moist. Pack in a big iron

Hash
One and one-half cups chopped left over roast beef, 2 cups chopped raw potatoes, 1/2 onion (minced), 2 table-spoons bacon fat or drippings, 1/2 cup boiling water, salt and pepper.

Cooked potatoes may be used. Pare potatoes and put through the coarse knife of the food chopper. Mix chopped meat, potatoes and onion and season with salt and pepper. Melt bacon fat in frying pan and when very hot add meat mixture. Pour the hot water in at one side of the pan, cover closely and cook over a slow fire for twenty minutes. Remove cover and cook until the hash is dry. Turn frequently with a broad spatula to prevent burning, but let the hash get brown and crusty all over. Hash made this way cannot be folded like an omelet, but is rather light and fluffy. Serve with tomatoes.

Browned Hash
One cup chopped meat, 2 cups mashed potatoes, 1-3 cup boiling water, 3 table-spoons bacon fat, salt and pepper, 1/2 teaspoon onion juice, 1 teaspoon minced parsley.

Put one tablespoon of the fat in a frying pan and heat very hot. Mix meat, potatoes, salt and pepper and spoon and push off into a frying pan with about 1/4 inch hot fat in the bottom of it. The mixture should be too moist to form into balls with the hands. Cook until a nice brown on one side, then turn and cook on the other.

Meat Pie
Two cups chopped meat, 1/2 onion (minced), 2 table-spoons flour, boiling water, salt and pepper.

FOR CRUST—1 cup flour, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 table-spoon lard, 2 table-spoons baking powder, milk.

Put the meat on a plate and sprinkle with the flour. Mix well to coat each bit of meat. Mix with onion, salt and pepper and put in a buttered baking dish. Add enough boiling water to cover the meat. Cover with a crust made by sifting the flour, salt and baking powder together, rubbing in the lard with the tips of the fingers and cutting in the

HELPFUL MEETING OF BOY SCOUTS

Boy scout troop meetings Tuesday night were instructive and helpful and the attendance was very satisfactory, according to reports from scout headquarters.

Troop 2 met at First Methodist church and was instructed in wrestling by Lisle Blackburn, tackle on the Lawrence college football team. He illustrated seven holds and how to break them. Arthur Grubel, activity director of the Milwaukee scout council last year, hypnotized Kenneth Schwegler for the amusement of the troop.

C. W. Cross, scoutmaster, took troop 8 to Alliea park for an outdoor meeting where they cooked their own supper, played games and discussed troop business.

At the election of officers of troop 10 which met at Fifth ward school, Emory Endter was elected senior patrol leader and Ralph Schneider was elected scribe. Scoutmaster Harry Colvin divided the 24 members present into two troops and held various drills.

K. of P. Meeting
The Knights of Pythias will hold its regular meeting at the lodge rooms, Thursday evening.

milk with a knife. Add enough milk to make a soft dough. Spread over the meat and bake forty minutes in a hot oven.

Adventures of the Twins

Vacation
Sprinkle-blow and Nancy and Nick sat down to rest on the big stone in the meadow under the shade of the chestnut tree. Mr. Sin was shining and everything was in tip-top shape, from Farmer Smith's sassa-patch garden to the fields of waving corn. Farmer Smith had begun his harvesting; one field was full of little haycocks ready to be gathered into the big barn, and in another lay bundles of wheat in even rows; from there they would soon be hauled to the thrasher to get the little, round grains shaken out.

Lovely fleecy white clouds sailed like great ships across the blue sky, nice little cooling breezes came playing round, and South Wind whispered to them lovingly. It was a lazy, lovely day with bees adorning a drowsy sing-song tune and birds gossiping about summer plans; through the woods came the clinky-tinkle of the brook.

Sprinkle-blow sighed. "Say, kiddies," said he. "I don't believe I'm needed for a spell. So I'll go up to my house on the star and take a rest. I can smoke my pipe and read the 'Log-Hollow Bugle' and the 'Gossamer Gazette'. In peace, it's the first chance I've had for a vacation since New Year's."

"Vacation!" exclaimed a voice near. "Vacation!" Nice time for the weatherman to be talking about taking a vacation, I call it. Just when everybody else is going to start on his. Why, we're all packed and ready to start this very day."

"Oh, how do you do, Wally Wood-chuck!" exclaimed Nancy to the little fat, furry gentleman standing near. "I think vacations are so interesting. Are you going to Niagara Falls, or the seashore, or to your grandfather's farm?"

"None of them," answered Mr. Woodchuck with dignity.

Ptomaine Poisoning
A. M. Dier, superintendent of Fox River Improvement, is recovering from a severe attack of ptomaine poison which he attributes to lamb which he ate one day last week at a Portage hotel. He left Portage for Horicon shortly after he finished his dinner and was taken ill on the way. Upon reaching Horicon he consulted a physician and remained in that city until he had recovered sufficiently to return home. He was on duty at his office Wednesday, but is still suffering from the effects of his experience.

FINED $100 FOR SELLING STOCKS WITHOUT PERMIT

Salesmen Plead Guilty to Violation of Wisconsin "Blue Sky" Law

Charged with selling stock, the issuance and sale of which had not been permitted in this state by the Wisconsin railroad commission, P. J. Murray, 31, and D. R. Schuttler, 26, representatives of the Edward Miller company of Chicago, were taken into municipal court Wednesday following their arrest Tuesday in Oshkosh by Officer John Duval of the Appleton police department.

The two stock salesmen were arrested upon complaint of an Appleton woman, who recently subscribed for $5,000 worth of stock in the concern, paying $1,000 down in the form of two certificates of deposit on a Chicago bank. The company is a brokerage concern and stock was being sold prior to its reorganization and incorporation under the laws of Illinois.

In municipal court, the two men admitted their guilt, waived preliminary hearing and entered a plea of guilty on the information before the court. Because of extenuating circumstances, Judge A. M. Spencer pronounced the minimum fine of $100 each and costs amounting to $8.95.

This prosecution is one of the first that has been made in this county under Wisconsin's "blue sky" laws which are aimed to protect the public from the purchase of worthless stocks and bonds. In this case it was not established that the paper offered was worthless but the violation of the law was that the men had not secured permits to offer their stock for sale in this state.

The money was returned to the stock purchaser.

COMPLETE INSPECTION OF RIVER NAVIGATION

General W. V. Judson of Chicago, division engineer; P. S. Skinner of Milwaukee, district engineer; and Earl M. Nisen of Milwaukee, assistant engineer, completed a tour of inspection of the upper and lower Fox river Wednesday and returned home. They started from Oshkosh last week on the government tug Fox and completed the inspection of the upper river before reaching Appleton. They passed through the locks here on their way to Green Bay Tuesday. These inspections are made at certain intervals, usually in the spring and fall.

JUBILEE MEETING OF WOMAN'S CLUBS

school and the high school art in the college chapel Y. W. C. A. room in the basement. Attention of the delegates and club women in Appleton is called to the exhibit of portraits and landscape painting which has been hung in the halls of Carnegie library. The portraits were done by Merton Grenhagen of Oshkosh.

On Thursday afternoon, the first social event for all the delegates and visitors will be held. The automobile ride to points of interest which is being provided by the chamber of commerce will terminate at either of two destinations, the Valley Inn at Neenah where Neenah-Menasha club women will be hostesses at tea or at Riverview Country club where Appleton clubwomen will be hostesses at tea.

Hostesses at the Neenah tea include members of the committee in charge, the Mesdames G. S. Gaylord, E. D. Beale, C. B. Clark, H. K. Babcock, William Gilbert, and S. H. Clinedinst and the presidents of the federated clubs who are: Mrs. John Strange, Economics club; Miss Madge Christie, Neenah Tuesday club; Mrs. C. E. Hutchins, Y. T. and S. club; and Miss Anne Pleasant, Monday Night club.

Hostesses at the Riverview Country club who will assist Mrs. J. E. Thomas, chairman of the entertainment are the Mesdames Charles Mory, John Stevens, S. A. Whedon, William Wing, M. A. Wertheimer, Charles Marston and Charles Boyd.

The members of the executive board of the federation met at 3 o'clock Tuesday in the Appleton Women's clubroom to transact the routine business of the convention session. Later they were entertained at a dinner at the Sherman House. Covers were laid for 36. The features of the party were two birthday cakes bearing twenty-five candles each, to commemorate the birthday of the federation. The party took place in the remodeled French room.

Luncheon was served to more than 200 visitors at the Mount Olive church at noon Wednesday by the Mount Olive Ladies. Meals during the convention will be served by the Mount Olive ladies for the convenience of the delegates.

Attention of the men is again called to the fact that there will be something of interest to them in all the sessions but especially the evening meetings on Thursday when Mrs. Thomas Winter speaks and on Friday when Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker speaks.

Miss Frances Foster of Lawrence college and Miss Constance Johnson, recreational director of the Appleton Women's club will be the local speakers on Thursday morning's program. Miss Foster will present the problem of the colleges while Miss Johnson will tell of the work which the local club has done for Appleton girls.

MATERIALISM IS CALLED PLAGUE BY K. C. SPEAKER

President Noonan of Marquette Calls on Americans to Combat Worldliness

"Materialism in our education is one of the great plagues of our country and it behooves the Knights of Columbus to be interested in matters of this kind, for the educated Catholic laity must take an interest in all great moral problems if our country is to go on in its great career. It is very important for us to remember that materialism is firmly entrenched in many of the higher institutions of learning."

This was a warning sounded by the Rev. H. C. Noonan, S. J., president of Marquette university, in his address before the Knights of Columbus Tuesday night at their celebration at the Elk club in commemoration of the Dance at Armory G, Friday, October 14th. Valley Country Club Orchestra. Admission 45c per person, plus 5c tax.

Landing of Columbus. Father Noonan's address followed a banquet attended by nearly 200 persons at which Thomas Flanagan acted as toastmaster.

Other numbers on the program consisted of a vocal solo by Miss Marie Schommer; piano solo, Miss Helen Keller; reading, Miss Ellen Hantschel; vocal solo, Harold McGillem; and the singing of "America" by the audience. The program closed with dancing. Gibson's orchestra furnished the music.

Raps Modern Teachers

The Rev. Noonan took exception to the views and teachings of materialism by certain members of the faculty of Wisconsin university and those of other prominent institutions of learning throughout the country and inquired if we should allow anybody to those universities to poison the minds of our children.

"We grow angry," the speaker said, "when Russia raised the standard of materialism, but we do not seem to be angry now. It has been raised in our own country and in the British Isles."

Father Noonan also touched on materialism in our democracy, and said we sometimes hold that America was founded on Christian information, and if so materialism should be banished from our government.

"Our democracy, therefore, is, or should be, a Christian democracy resting upon that great unchangeable universal principle that all just governments derive their authority to rule from the consent of the governed. We said a great deal about that during the war, but since the armistice we have forgotten about the moral principles."

"As long as our country remains a Christian country its perpetuity is sure, but if we allow materialism—one of the great plagues of the world—to sweep over in the field of democracy we are responsible for its ruin."

Dr. Noonan also dwelt upon birth control which he characterized as a terrible evil because of the moral perversion that comes, and finally it is an act of anarchy, and a repudiation of God.

During his address the speaker incidentally called attention to the remarkable recent growth of the Marquette university, which now has an enrollment of 4,043 students. In 1914 there was an attendance of only 1,400. The reception committee consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Flanagan, Chief and Mrs. George T. Prim, Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Wolf, Mr. and Mrs. John Furum, and Mr. and Mrs. John Morgan.

IF TOMBSTONES TOLD THE TRUTH

the tiny graves of millions of infants would be inscribed "Killed by Dirty Milk."

There is no longer any excuse for impure milk. Modern dairy methods have made clean milk available for everyone. All you have to do in order to insure clean milk is to demand it, and TO KNOW HOW CLEAN MILK IS PRODUCED AND CARED FOR.

This knowledge is the more important because milk is an indispensable article of food. It contains elements necessary to provide a balanced diet. It is your duty to know about milk.

One of the most authoritative statements of the facts about milk is contained in an illustrated pamphlet by Dr. Milton J. Rosenau, Professor of Preventive Medicine and Hygiene at Harvard University, and formerly director of the Hygienic Laboratory of the United States Public Health Service.

URGE OBSERVANCE OF GOOD SPEECH WEEK HERE

Letters are being mailed from the office of John J. Callahan, state superintendent of schools, to city superintendents urging them to observe "Good Speech week" from Nov. 6 to 12. Teachers are asked to place special emphasis during that week on purity in speech and in composition.

It is quite probable that special efforts will be made here to observe the week. It will be one of the principal topics of discussion at the state teachers' meeting in Milwaukee early in November.

EIGHT OFFICIALS OFF TO CONCLAVE

Big Delegation Will Strive to Bring Next Convention to Appleton

Eight city officials left Wednesday morning in automobiles for Janesville, where they will represent Appleton at the annual state convention of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities. They were Aldermen Mayor, McGillem, Lappen and Fose, E. L. Williams, city clerk, Theodore Berg, city attorney, O. F. Welsgerber, city engineer, and George T. Prim, chief of police.

Mayor J. A. Hawes was detained here during the morning on account of business, but expected to leave sometime during the afternoon for Janesville. Alderman Laabs also expected to go by train later.

With not less than ten men to push Appleton's cause, it was believed the city fathers would be successful in inducing the convention to come to Appleton next year. Appleton would have had this convention if the sentiment for it last year had been used to advantage, but the local delegates decided it was best to wait a year.

The latest idea in dessert molds. A set of six individual molds in aluminum, with your initial embossed on top so it shows on each dessert.

3 Gifts

This week—That Initial Mold Set and two surprise gifts in addition

This is the first time we have made a gift offer like this. It is made to start the dessert season with Jiffy-Jell in your home. And to remind you again how Jiffy-Jell excels.

Buy from your grocer this week six packages Jiffy-Jell. Send us the certificate below and we will send you three gifts to surprise and delight you.

First, we will send the Initial Mold Set shown above. Six individual dessert molds in aluminum, each with your initial embossed so it shows on the dessert.

This is the latest dessert fad. This set where sold would cost you 75 cents.

We will send in addition two other valuable gifts. We will not announce them, for we want to surprise you. All these three gifts will come to you if you send us the signed certificate this week.

Real Fruit in Bottles

Remember that Jiffy-Jell is the only dessert with the real fruit flavors in bottles.

We crush the fruit, condense the juice and seal it. A bottle of this real fruit essence goes in every package.

So Jiffy-Jell is rich in fruit. And fruit as fresh and fragrant as when picked.

Old-style desserts of this kind have the flavor in dry form. In Jiffy-Jell only you get the real fruit juice condensed. Yet it costs no more than the old style.

We want to remind you how Jiffy-Jell excels. So, to start the season, we make this offer, and we urge you to accept it.

Send us the certificate this week and we will mail you three valuable gifts. Please don't forget.

Jiffy Dessert Co., Waukegan, Wis. MAIL 675 THIS I have bought this week six packages Jiffy-Jell of my grocer. Send me the initial molds and the two surprise gifts.

HOPFENSBERGER BROS.

BREWERS UNABLE TO PLAY BRANDTS HERE ON SUNDAY

Brandt Notified That Game is Off in Phone Message From Marshfield

The Milwaukee Brewers will not play here next Sunday. That was announced late on Tuesday when a telephone message from Marshfield informed Owner August Brandt of the local club that the Brewers would play at Rhinelander on Sunday. The Brewers originally were booked to play here Oct. 2, then Oct. 9 and now it is more than likely that they will not come here at all.

Manager Stockbauer of the Oshkosh club has been trying to book a game for there next Sunday but it is doubtful if the contest will be arranged. The weather is getting too cold for baseball and attendance is bound to be small.

The season which is now closing has been remarkably successful for the Appleton club in spite of poor business conditions. Attendance at the games, for the most part, has been good and it is certain that Owner Brandt has not suffered a financial loss. That his team did not finish first in the league race is the only regret of the season. The club played good ball most of the time but a few slips gave the pennant to Oshkosh.

Preparations will be made during the winter to form an exceptionally strong league, including the larger cities of the Fox river valley. There is a possibility that several members of this year's Kimberly team will be with Appleton next season.

PACKERS TO BATTLE BELOIT ON SUNDAY

Green Bay Packers, who have been having easy picking so far this season, will run into stiff opposition next Sunday afternoon at Green Bay when they meet the Beloit Packers. Beloit is an ancient rival of the Packers and last year defeated the Green Bay squad in a grueling fight. This year's game, by that token, is likely to be even more grueling.

Green Bay has gathered together one of the greatest aggregations of football stars that every played in Wisconsin. The team is made up almost entirely of college veterans and contains several men who are nationally famous on the gridiron. One of the mainstays is Howard "Cub" Buck, one of the best linemen Wisconsin has ever had.

Sport Views And News

Barnes replaced Toney and the Giants win again. The rescue hurler turned in a banner brand of pitching and after he assumed the mound the Giants by good use of their sweat sticks came from behind and wiped out the lead of the Yankees. Barnes has been going like a house on fire in the series and we've got a hunch that McGraw will put him back against the American leaguers in Thursday's game.

Little Dick Fewster covered himself with glory. Substituting for the mighty Babe Ruth in the outer garden, Fewster did all that was to be expected of him and a lot more besides. Fewster cut loose with a sparkling hitting game and what was more filling Bambino's shoes very properly poked out a four base wallop. As usual, a substitute generally shines in the diamond classic. This hope has run true to form for a number of years.

A nice little rumble is brewing in the Big Ten. The undergraduates at Minnesota are going to file application with their athletic board asking that all sport relations with Northwestern be severed. The Gophers claim that in the last Saturday's game, the Purple team purposely put the rollers under Arnold Oss. He is now laying in a hospital badly injured. Naturally the Evanstonians denied the allegation. The row will probably be aired at the next confab of the Western Conference.

Eyes of the football world will center on the Iowa-Illinois gridiron conflict, Saturday. The Iowans through their victory over Notre Dame are being picked as logical contenders for mid west grid honors and unless the suckers knock 'em off in this contest, they will probably pull through with a title. Zuppke's strength is still unknown but his Illini can be counted on to give the invaders a pretty close rub.

Miracle Man Of Indiana

When Knute Rockne took the job as "Irish Mentor" at Notre Dame University three years ago, he made this promise:

"I'll make the team a good one this year, and a better one every year thereafter."

Rockne has made good with a vengeance to date. For only once since 1918 has the gold and blue been in the low end of a score. Iowa defeated the Catholics last Saturday.

Taking the reins in 1918, at a time when the student body was almost depleted, most of the varsity teams being in the war, Rockne pulled the Notre Dame squad through a terrible schedule.

After winning every game that had been booked, he took another chance and sent his green and unseasoned kids against the Great Lakes Naval Training Station team. The sailors were fought to a 7-7 tie. A week later the Irish School suffered the only defeat it has had since Rockne took hold.

Both '18 and '20 were perfect seasons for Notre Dame under Rockne. Each year the team sent Army, Indiana, Purdue and Nebraska down to defeat and last season added Northwestern and Michigan Aggies to its list of victims.

Rockne's warriors will tackle anything. His line is light, but Rockne likes smaller men because they have spring in 'em. He teaches them to crouch and spring like a jack-in-the-box, which takes heavier opponents by surprise and bowls 'em over.

Both his ends, Captain Eddie Anderson and Roger Kiley, are veteran basketball players and Rockne has turned them into a pair of forward pass catchers who rank high among the gridlers.

Rockne starred at end on the Notre Dame squad in his student days. He, with Dorais, introduced and made famous the forward pass.

It was with the forward pass that Rockne scored the first touchdown against West Point and in his last year as a student defeated the Army badly at Cadet Field. He also scored Notre Dame's first touchdown against Penn State on a forward pass from Dorais.

EXPECT 100 MEN AT ATHLETIC BANQUET

Interlake Association Making Plans for Interesting Winter Season

More than 100 men are expected to attend the annual winter banquet of the Interlake Athletic Association at Hotel Appleton, at 7 o'clock Thursday evening. An excellent program has been arranged by a committee made up of A. G. Kessler, J. T. Whelan, Carl Sternagle and Ralph Potter.

Plans will be made for an intensive recreational program all the winter. A strong basketball team is to be formed and games already have been booked with several of the strongest teams in this vicinity.

It is also proposed to organize a bowling league of ten teams of five men each.

The athletic association is governed by a board of directors elected at the April meeting of the association. The board consists of R. L. Gregory, president; P. P. Young, secretary; A. G. Kessler, Henry Vander Linden, C. B. Peterman and J. T. Whelan. Last year 104 employees participated in the various recreational facilities and the effort is to increase the number of men interested each year.

FANS ARE GOING TO "U" HOMECOMING

Wisconsin-Minnesota Grid Battle is Set for October 29 This Year

More than one Appleton man, more especially University of Wisconsin graduates, are shaping their plans so they can steal away from the city Oct. 29 to attend the great homecoming and Wisconsin-Minnesota football battle in Madison.

A recent issue of the Daily Cardinal, university daily paper, announced the ticket selling arrangements and makes it possible for followers of the teams in other cities to make their reservations in advance. Orders are filled in the order received, and no one person may obtain more than four tickets.

This year's seating capacity will be 21,000, with rearrangement of the field at Camp Randall. Favorable weather will mean that a large number of people from Appleton and vicinity will go to Madison in automobiles, thus avoiding the rail congestion that accompanies the grid battle.

COLLEGE POINTING FOR BELOIT GAME

Heavy scrimmage and drilling in defensive work will make up the greater part of the program for Lawrence college football players the remainder of the week. The team probably will be in the best possible condition when it meets Oshkosh normal school here Saturday.

Coach McChesney and his aides are directing their energies toward preparing the team for the game with Beloit here a week from Saturday. This will be the first conference game and Lawrence wants to be sure of a win over the conquerors of Northwestern university.

100 WRESTLERS TURN OUT FOR BADGER SQUAD

Madison, Wis.—Close to 100 men turned out for the first meeting of the university wrestling squad this year. Coach George Hitchcock, almost flooded with the wealth of good material, expects to work out a winning combination for all events.

Ivan H. Peterman, re-elected to captain the squad, is back in school this fall and believes that with the number of old men that the squad has back, that Wisconsin should win the conference title. An effort will be made to make wrestling a major sport before the season opens.

FANS HERE MAINTAINING INTEREST IN SERIES

Appleton fans are maintaining their interest in the world baseball series in spite of cold weather and apathy in New York where the big game is played. Reports from New York indicate that the crowds have been unusually unenthusiastic and there is little baseball conversation in the city.

The Post-Crescent will continue to give its play by play service until the series ends. Large numbers of fans are gathering daily in the south of the Post-Crescent building to hear the glory of the battle.

SOFT ARM DOESN'T ALWAYS GO ALONG WITH SOFT NAME

Witness Jesse Barnes Who Fooled 'Em All When He Turned Back Yanks

New York—This is the fable of the seven inning pitcher and the Nine inning game:

Once there was a Human Lath, who looked as though he had been raised in a Hothouse. His Fond parents, slipped him the Monicker of Jesse but he was trying hard to live it down.

Our Hero went to the Big Town to seek his fortune and eased himself into a poor but honest job with the well known firm of McGraw, Stoneham and McQuade, who conducted a general National pastime business.

Now Jesse's daily toll consisted of tending the Old Apple to a gang of yellow Employees so they could get their batting eyes in condition. Once in a while the Big Bosses would condescend to let Jesse work against Rival firms, but not often.

Jesse had a falling for colliding with a job of Hard Luck about the Seventh Inning and staking the Other Fellows to a flock of wallops that would run his Fingers ragged. So they called Jesse a Seven Inning pitcher and generally drove him Tandem.

When our Hero's firm was competing with Ruppert and Huston for a Big contract commonly known as the World Championship, he had about as good a chance of occupying a Stellar role as he had of filling a Royal flush.

But on day when another Workman had been beaten to a Frazzle, General Manager McGraw said to him: "Barnes, we're through for the Day, so you might as well get Yours."

Did he get his. He did not. He got the other guy's.

The Wise Birds snickered and called him a Lucky Stuff. Yesterday, the same Fellow Workman, Fred Toney began to wobble. Jesse was again slated for a Burnt offering.

"Wait until the Seventh Inning and he will Blow," Quoth the Wise Birds. All the Blowing Jesse did was to Blow himself to Ten strike outs and another game.

Painful Rheumatic Swellings Disappear

Discoverer Tells Schlitz Bros. Co., Voigt's Drug Store, Union Pharmacy and All Good Druggists Not to Take a Cent of Anyone's Money Unless Allenru Completely Banishes All Rheumatic Pains and Swellings.

Mr. James H. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery to others who took it with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. Schlitz Bros. Drug Co., Voigt's Drug Store and Union Pharmacy have been appointed agents for Allenru in this vicinity with the understanding that they will freely return the purchase money on the first two bottles to all who state they received no benefit. adv.

THIS COUNTY HAS 2 LARGE VILLAGES

Little Chute and Kimberly Rank as Leaders in Smaller
Badger Communities

Madison—A wide range of salaries paid to village officers is shown in a preliminary report on "Comparative Salaries of Village Officials in Wisconsin" just completed by the municipal information bureau of the university extension division.

In tabulated form, the report gives population, salaries of president, clerk, treasurer, assessor, marshal and trustees of the 334 villages in the state with a supplementary table of other officers in certain villages. When data has been secured from 55 villages which did not report, the information will be put out in printed form.

The largest village in the state is Shorewood, in Milwaukee county with 2,650 residents. Other large villages are: North Fond du Lac, with 2,150; West Milwaukee, 2,101; Little Chute, 2,017; Niagara, 1,946; Hamilton, 1,890; Nekoosa, 1,639; Arcadia, 1,418; Kimberley, 1,382; and Mt. Horeb, 1,360.

The smallest village is McMillan, Marathon county, with 61 residents. Other small villages are: Sheldon, 123; Nogram, 124; Woodman, 138; Rockdale, 139; Conrath, 145; Oliver, 153; Hustler, 163; Union Center, 170; and Glen Flora, 174.

Salaries of village presidents range from $12 or $15 a year, perhaps at a monthly rate, up to $50 or $75 a year. Niagara, Marinette county, pays the highest salary, $150. Nine other villages pay $100 a year each.

The village clerks of Shorewood and North Milwaukee receive $1,200 a year each, but other village clerks receive usually between $100 and $200 a year. Some of the higher salaries are: $500 in Owen; $480 in Arcadia and Cornell; $450 in Niagara; $425 in North Fond du Lac; and $420 in Ellsworth and St. Croix Falls. Small salaries are $5 in Union Center, $25 in Ironton; $30 in Conrath; $30 in Sister Bay; $40 in Blue Mounds, Hangen, and Rockdale; and $45 in Barneveld.

Village treasurers are in general paid somewhat less than village clerks. Their salaries range from $25 to $200 a year. The village assessor is paid by the day, ranging from $3 to $5, in many villages. In others his yearly salary ranges from $10 to $100.

Village marshals' salaries range from $5 in Woodman to $1,500 in Shorewood. Among the lowest salaries are: $15 in Mattson and Wild Rose; $20 in Rochester; $25 in Brillion and Scandinavia; $30 in Steuben; $45 in Coon Valley; $50 in Downing, Gilman, Loganville, Cofax, Cornell, Hazel Green, La Farge, Onro, Owen, West Salem, Schofield, Schlesingville, Thorp, Viola, West Milwaukee, Whitefish Bay, and St. Croix Falls.

65 FACE COURT IN KENOSHA RUM-DRIVE

Kenosha—The trial of sixty-five Kenosha county residents, alleged to have been implicated in the vice and liquor rings here, opened before Judge E. B. Belden of Racine in Circuit court Monday afternoon. Former District Attorney Peter Fischer, Jr., and former Police Chief Owen O'Hare were slated to face trial first. Both men were indicted on bribery charges. A mixed jury has been impaneled to try the cases.

"MYSTERY MAN" IS TAKEN BACK EAST

By United Press Leased Wire
Milwaukee—Dr. John Carter, alias Cartwright, alias Connelly, taken into custody by police here a week ago on suspicion and said to be wanted in several eastern cities on different charges, left here in custody of Pittsburgh detectives for Pittsburgh, Pa., where he is wanted on a charge of larceny and ball jumping.

P. E. Moran, the Pittsburgh detective says Dr. Carter is known as the "mystery man of Pittsburgh" and that he is evidently a sufferer of lack of memory. Dr. Carter is alleged to have borrowed large sums of money, which he evidently forgot about.

Helen Steers, former nurse at Nazsau hospital, Minocla Field, Long Island, where she met Dr. Carter and was later married, is being held here while police determine whether she obtained a divorce from her first husband.

KILLS SELF AFTER SHOOTING WOMAN

By United Press Leased Wire
Kansas City, Mo.—While his wife sat outside in an automobile, H. H. Slick, salesman, Tuesday entered a beauty parlor here and after probably fatally wounding Hazel Maston, pretty divorcee, shot and killed himself.

The shooting which took place in the fashionable residence district was the culmination of a two year triangle of infatuation of Slick's for the girl, Mrs. Othila Slick, the dead man's wife told police.

"I had discovered my husband's affair with the woman," she said, "and when I threatened to get a divorce he said he would break it off. We drove to the beauty parlor where the girl works and he went inside."
Mrs. Slick heard shots, heard a police alarm and saw the ambulance arrive without suspecting what was happening, she said, until police began questioning her.

INVITE PERSHING TO LAY MEDAL ON TOMB

By United Press Leased Wire
London—The British government has decided to invite General Pershing to come to London to lay the congressional medal of honor on the tomb of the unknown soldier in Westminster abbey next Friday, the Evening Star said Tuesday. If that date is unsuitable for the American commander-in-chief, the government will suggest Armistice day, November 11.

DAIRY INDUSTRY SAVED WISCONSIN

This and Diversified Crops Prevented Widespread Depression Here, Wallace Says

By United Press Leased Wire
Madison—Secretary of Agriculture Henry C. Wallace, who arrived in Madison Monday morning to inspect the forest products laboratory here, is optimistic about the present trend in the business and agricultural world. Conditions have touched bottom, the secretary thinks, and now are on the upgrade. "The general impression in the east is that business is picking up."

"You in Wisconsin have not felt the depression so much," Secretary Wallace declared, "because you have the dairy industry that is always paying. You have diversified crops, while other states generally depend upon one crop alone."

"In the south, however, cotton is going up in price, and consequently conditions there are improving. Mr. Meyer of the war finance board has been touring the west, telling the stock raisers how they may secure credit for their cattle business."

Laws passed by the new congress, particularly the act providing for extension of credits through the war finance board, have proved of great benefit in countering business depression, Secretary Wallace asserted.

As the farmers comprise 40 per cent of the country's population, their prosperity is essential to the prosperity of the whole nation, the secretary said. An increase in the purchasing power of the farmer is an important factor in promoting the economic welfare of the rest of the people.

"The unemployment conference at Washington," the secretary said, "is helpful in that it is calling our attention to the necessity of taking care of our own people."

Secretary Wallace spent the morning in inspecting the forest products laboratory. He was accompanied by Director C. P. Winslow and other officials of the laboratory.

MILWAUKEE SCOUT ENDS 700-MILE STATE HIKE

By United Press Leased Wire
Milwaukee—Completing his hike of 700 miles through the state of Wisconsin, Adam Skidell, 16 year old boy scout of this city, carrying a thirty pound pack, returned here Sunday night. During his hike, he visited Sheboygan, Manitowish, Green Bay, Shawano, Wausau, Marshfield, Wisconsin Rapids, Kilbourn and Madison.

A Vision of the People's Good

IN his issue of September 22, Mr. H. A. Sturges, Editor of the Republic of Beresford, S. D., prints the following editorial:

"The Republic has carried for a long time a series of messages in the form of advertisements, ordered and paid for by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). There is a notion on the part of many that everything that a corporation does is of a selfish nature, and that there never is a vision of the people's good. These messages have carried an entirely different tone, and we believe they are worth reading from week to week. The data this week is very interesting."

This recognition of the sincere effort which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has put forth through these advertisements to inform the public as to its purposes, policies and ideals, is gratifying.

In the opinion of the seven Directors of this organization, the business of this Company should be, and is, an open book.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is an institution performing an essential service in a highly specialized branch of industry.

This Company is owned by 21,188 individuals, not one of whom owns as much as 10 percent of the capital stock.

The management of this Company centers about seven men, who constitute the Board of Directors. Each one is a specialist in one or more branches of the petroleum industry, and devotes all of his time to the business and affairs of this Company. Not one of the Directors has inherited his job; he has earned it.

Individually, and collectively, the Board of Directors believes that the business in which this Company is engaged is so vital, so important to the commercial and domestic life of all the people of the eleven states it serves, that they have caused to be published this series of advertisements, that the people may know how the business is being conducted.

Further, the 25,000 men and women who make up this organization are putting forth such enthusiastic, painstaking efforts to do a good job for the Company, and in turn, for the people, that the Directors are glad to tell the public what is being done.

Through these advertisements they are giving an account of their trusteeship to the people frequently, as they do to the stockholders annually.

This is the purpose of this campaign of advertisements, on which the publisher of the Beresford Republic has seen fit to comment favorably.

PARKER'S WIFE HANDLES PURSE

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Ill.—Federal authorities Tuesday were awaiting Mrs. Harrison Parker, walking treasurer of the Cooperative Society of America. Parker, sponsor of the organization which owns several wholesale groceries, a life insurance company and other business ventures and has 80,000 stockholders, defied the Central Trust company, which has been appointed receiver, by announcing the company is not bankrupt. He said

$2,600.00 of the company funds is in the possession of his wife—the authorized treasurer. Parker announced his wife would arrive Tuesday and clear up matters.

REPORT MRS. HILL'S CONDITION IMPROVED

By United Press Leased Wire
St. Paul, Minn.—Mrs. J. J. Hill, widow of the "empire builder," "had a good night last night," it was stated at the residence Tuesday morning. Physicians had not yet called but nurses believed her condition improved. All near relatives are here with the exception of James N. Hill of New York and Mrs. Samuel Hill of Washington who were expected Tuesday.

Mrs. Rose M. Brown Gained 20 Pounds In Four Weeks Time

Declares It's Simply Astonishing to See the Wonderful Benefits She Has Derived From Tanlac—Says Terrible Headaches Have Disappeared.

MRS. ROSE M. BROWN

"It sounds unreasonable, but I have actually gained 20 pounds in less than a month's time by taking Tanlac and the wonderful benefit I have derived from the use of this medicine is simply astonishing," said Mrs. Rose M. Brown, 111 Third Street, Manchester, N. H.

"Why, I am so happy to be relieved of my troubles I can really never praise this medicine enough. Up to the time I began taking Tanlac, I suffered for something over two years with a very bad form of stomach trouble."

"My appetite was so poor I could scarcely eat a thing. My stomach would be so badly bloated with gas sometimes I was almost afraid to go to bed for fear I would actually smother. I felt tired and worn out most of the time and became terribly discouraged over my condition. I often had such violent headaches I was unable to be out of bed for two or three days at a stretch."

"Four bottles of Tanlac completely restored my health and anyone can see at a glance the wonderful change that has taken place in my condition. I now have a splendid appetite now and the stomach trouble has entirely disappeared. I can eat just anything I want, without ever feeling a sign of indigestion. The best of all, I am never bothered any more with headaches and this was the greatest relief

Bandits Get Only $2,000 in Robbery of State Bank at Darien Tuesday

By United Press Leased Wire
Beloit—Riley S. Young, president of the Darien State bank, which was entered Tuesday night by bandits, stated at noon Wednesday that the loss would not exceed $2,000. Liberty bonds ordinarily kept in the safety deposit boxes had recently been sent to Chicago for safekeeping following the bank robbery in the town of Eagle, a short distance from Darien. Robbers entered the bank at Darien, and after cutting all telephone and telegraph wires into the city, escaped with their loot.

Early reports that the sheriff here by auto from Darien stated that the men came in an automobile, looted the safe and made their escape in the high powered motor car before a posse of citizens could be gathered together to take up the chase.

GIANTS AGAIN IN LEAD IN SERIES

nearly misjudged the ball. No runs, no hits, no errors.

This was Douglas' first good inning. He retired the side in order on easy chances.

Giants—Frisch out. Mays to Pipp on a bunt, the first ball pitched. Young was safe at first. Ward fumbled his grounder. It was a single. Kelly fanned, swinging, and Young stole second. E. Meusel singled to center, scoring Young. It was a Texas leaguer over Ward's head. Rawlings out. Pipp unassisted. One run, two hits, no errors.

Mays made the mistake of trying to feed slow balls to the Giants and Young and Meusel killed them.

Fifth Inning
Yankees—Schang out. Douglas to Kelly. Mays out. Rawlings to Kelly. Fawcett fanned, swinging. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Douglas continued his good work and the Yankees were helpless.

Giants—Snyder up. Snyder asked to look at the ball. Snyder flied to Miller who made a nice running catch. Douglas out. Pipp unassisted. Burns doubled to center but was out trying for third. Miller to Ward to Baker. No runs, one hit, no errors.

The Giants continued to slug Mays' hard but were cut down by fast fielding.

Sixth Inning
Yankees—Peck fouled to Frisch. Miller out. Frisch to Kelly. R. Meusel flied to Young who made a nice catch. No runs, no hits, no errors.

This was the third successive inning in which not a Yankee reached first base.

Giants—Bancroft out. Ward to Pipp. Frisch out. Ward to Pipp. Young out. Ward to Pipp on a fast play. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Ward and Pipp were the whole show in this inning, getting the three batsmen who faced Mays.

Seventh Inning
Yankees—Pipp lined to Douglas. Ward flied to Burns on the first ball pitched. Baker singled to center on the first ball, a drive over second base. Schang singled to center. Baker reaching third. Schang's hit was a grounder that took a bad bounce over Rawlings' shoulder. Mays out. Rawlings to Kelly. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Giants—Kelly out. Pipp to Pipp. E. Meusel fanned with the bat on his shoulder. Rawlings safe at first when he fumbled his grounder. It was an error for Ward, smashed to center for a double, scoring Rawlings. Douglas fanned swinging. One run, one hit, one error.

Eighth Inning
Yankees—Fawcett out. Douglas to Kelly, on a bunt. Peck fanned, swinging. Miller walked. It was the first walk of the game. R. Meusel out. Bancroft to Kelly. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Giants—Burns out. Peck to Pipp on the first ball. Bancroft out. Peck to Pipp. Frisch fanned, swinging. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Ninth Inning
Yankees—Pipp out. Rawlings to Kelly. Ward flied to Burns. Baker was safe at first when he smashed through Kelly for a single. Devore ran for Baker. Schang out. Douglas to Kelly. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Giants—Burns out. Peck to Pipp on the first ball. Bancroft out. Peck to Pipp. Frisch fanned, swinging. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Tenth Inning
Yankees—Pipp out. Rawlings to Kelly. Ward flied to Burns. Baker was safe at first when he smashed through Kelly for a single. Devore ran for Baker. Schang out. Douglas to Kelly. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Giants—Burns out. Peck to Pipp on the first ball. Bancroft out. Peck to Pipp. Frisch fanned, swinging. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Eleventh Inning
Yankees—Pipp out. Rawlings to Kelly. Ward flied to Burns. Baker was safe at first when he smashed through Kelly for a single. Devore ran for Baker. Schang out. Douglas to Kelly. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Giants—Burns out. Peck to Pipp on the first ball. Bancroft out. Peck to Pipp. Frisch fanned, swinging. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Twelfth Inning

CONSIDER NEW CUT
IN RAILROAD WAGE

Rail Executives Meet Friday—Union Leaders Ready to Call Voted Strike

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Ill.—Railroad executives again plan to slash the wages of 2,000,000 rail workers, the United Press was reliably informed Wednesday.

The executives of the leading carriers of the country who meet here Friday have definitely decided upon this step. The amount to be cut from the payroll will be decided at the conference.

Railroad officials Wednesday believed they would be successful in trimming wages. They pointed to the attitude of the administration which recommended to the unemployment conference a cut in rail wages and a reduction in freight rates.

Knowledge of the cut has reached the heads of the big railroad unions who have been meeting here all week. They refuse to discuss the question Wednesday but, stood by their former statements that there would be a strike if wages were cut in addition to the $400,000,000 reduction which went into effect July 1.

The rail union leaders armed with a five to one strike vote will not discuss further cut in wages with the executives, it was believed.

When the reduction is offered, according to reliable information, the union heads will carry their case directly to the president as they did during the Wilson administration.

FREE PRISONERS WHO LET POOR GO TAX-FREE

By United Press Leased Wire
London—Councilors of Poplar, imprisoned for refusal to levy taxes on the poor in their districts, were released from jail Wednesday.

The mayor of Poplar, 21 councilors, including six women, and a Poplar alderman, were among these released.

They had been in Brixton prison, and other jails, over a month, and as they comprised the entire local government of the borough of Poplar, the London county council found greatest difficulty in managing the borough's affairs during their absence.

The people of Poplar, who cheered the councilors as they went to jail, refused to elect successors.

"Committee of Eleven" Plans National Cooperative Dairy Marketing Plan

By United Press Leased Wire
St. Paul, Minn.—Cooperative marketing of dairy products to secure a better return for the producer and give better service to the consumer at less cost is possible is the aim of the "committee of eleven."

This committee was chosen at a meeting of dairymen and farmers called by the American Farm Bureau federation. Its investigation of cooperative marketing of whole milk, cooperative creameries and cheese factories, cooperative distribution of dairy products and dairy byproducts will become national in scope. The aim is to produce a permanent national organization to handle dairy products.

James R. Howard, president of the American Farm Bureau federation named the committee which will work out a plan and report later.
